Fishing Bad For The Inexperienced

FRANKFORT — State Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources spokesmen said today the state's current fishing "conditions" were "separating the men from the boys."

Spokesmen said inexperienced fishermen were having a rough time of it in Kentucky's principal lakes. The experts still are posted bringing in small catches, but the average guy isn't doing so well.

Bass are being caught off the points at night at Lake Cumberland with underwater lures, and the state's current fishing "conditions" are "separating the men from the boys."

Kentucky Lake sources said nice bass catches are being made at night, but the crappie is only fair. Bluegill and catfish are also being taken at night.

At Herrington Lake, a few white bass still are being taken from the junks, but they aren't prize winners.

Fishing reportedly continues fair at Dale Hollow, with most catches being made in the late afternoon or at night. Surface lures seem to be having the best results at Dale Hollow. Some good sized crappie have been taken at Dale this week.

Thailand To Get American Jets

WASHINGTON, — America's drive to shore up Southeast Asia's defenses picked up speed today following a decision to rush jet planes and arms to vulnerable Thailand.

The Defense Department announced the "crash" program Tuesday night at the conclusion of 14 days of secret strategy talks here with a Thai military mission.

U.S. and Thai officials said the plan calls for immediate doubling of officer and non-com trainees in the Thai army; prompt shipment of U.S. jets, small arms, tanks, artillery and equipment; and the allotment of 3 million dollars in American funds to build a strategically important highway.

Informed sources revealed today that Nationalist China also will soon be receiving swift U.S. F-86 Sabre jets that may help keep Red China from committing the bulk of its air power to the Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

Adopt Anti-Red Resolution

These strategic moves were disclosed after the House Foreign Affairs Committee unanimously approved a resolution opposing the admission of Red China to the United Nations and backing President Eisenhower in his determination to keep it out.

The committee adopted the resolution instead of several stronger proposals calling for U.S. withdrawal from the U.N. or at least a policy "reexamination" in case of Red China's admission.

The group emphasized that it was making "no recommendation" as to what action the President or Congress should take. It said it has "every confidence" that Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will retain free world support for the U.S. position.

Sponsored By Bentley

The resolution, sponsored by Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.), was somewhat similar to a statement approved last week by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The administration took a strong stand against any advance commitment to quit the U.N.

Gen. Sisodi Inanarajata, deputy Thai defense minister and army commander-in-chief, headed the country's military mission here. He emphasized that the new program stems from the critical military situations in Indochina.

He said he does not believe his country is in immediate danger even if the Communists are granted northern Viet Nam, as a result of an Indochinese armistice.

But he said the Reds will "concentrate on infiltrating Thailand and other Southeast Asian countries" once they have "consolidated their position" in northern Viet Nam and tried to take over political control of southern Viet Nam.

Key Man In European Defense Pact Gets Little Publicity

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

A key man in the attempt to get France to ratify the European Defense Community pact is getting less than his share of publicity.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak will have one of the strongest voices in any negotiations that may result if France attempts to make basic changes in the pact as the price of its approval.

Spaak, regarded by many as the outstanding diplomat of Europe, speaks for the "Benelux" countries (Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg).

They have all ratified the pact as it stands now. They do not want it changed if change can be avoided. They may lack the French try to change it too radically.

Spaak got impatient late last month over French delay. He called for a meeting of all six countries which signed the EDC treaty.

Spaak held that it was up to France to ratify the pact to the United Nations and backing President Eisenhower in his determination to keep it out.

The committee adopted the resolution instead of several stronger proposals calling for U.S. withdrawal from the U.N. or at least a policy "reexamination" in case of Red China's admission.

The group emphasized that it was making "no recommendation" as to what action the President or Congress should take. It said it has "every confidence" that Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will retain free world support for the U.S. position.

Kitty Second Half Fight For Second

By UNITED PRESS
The Kitty League's second-half pennant chase appeared to be settling today into a fight for second place, with the Union City Dodgers already three games out in front of the pack and three teams tied for the No. 2 spot.

This situation developed as Fulton beat Madisonville, 14 to 7; Mayfield downed Owensboro, 7 to 2; Union City laced Paducah, 19 to 6; and Hopkinsville whipped Madisonville, Mayfield and Fulton in the second-place deadlock.

Al Taylor won his ninth game of the year against three defeats as Fulton beat Madisonville. Taylor and Ned Waldrop each had three hits for the winners.

John Zarcone might have had a shutout as Mayfield beat Owensboro except a two-run homerun ball he served up to Rich Wandell. Mayfield scored six times in the fourth inning, with Joe Moran clouting a bases-loaded double. Union City scored nine runs in the first inning to bury Paducah, with Al Shinn blasting a three-run homer. Hopkinsville catcher Steve Birst garnered four hits as the Hoppers whipped Central City.

The same schedule is in effect tonight.

Bastille Day Is Observed In Hanoi, Indochina

HANOI, Indochina — Ten thousand French troops paraded through the streets of Hanoi today in a Bastille Day show of strength aimed at reassuring a population frightened by a massive Communist close in on the city.

The high command called back every soldier it could spare from the battle zone to give Hanoi the biggest display of armed might ever seen here. This was the day Red propagandists had boasted that Ho Chi Minh would enter Hanoi in triumph.

Taking a calculated risk, the French withdrew many units from the trenches and paraded, and returned them as soon as it was over.

Marching before 100,000 citizens of Hanoi were crack paratroopers, Foreign Legionnaires, red hatted Senegalese, Algerian riflemen, and elite battalions of the Viet Nam army.

Sixty tanks clanked along the tree lined avenues in muggy heat. Artillerymen marched beside the gleaming barrels of new American 155-mm Long Toms.

Military sources said the parade was planned carefully to show Hanoi that the French could defend the city in case the diplomats failed to stop the shooting in Indochina.

Relatively small scale combat cracked all around Hanoi, even while the 10,000 men were marching in the city.

Letter To Editor

Editor, Daily Ledger and Times, Murray, Kentucky

Dear Sir: I understand that a few years back there was a bus line from the college campus to town and back. When this was in effect, I am told, the townspeople would pick up the college students who were waiting for the bus, thereby forcing the bus out of business. Is this right?

If this is correct, why did the townspeople stop picking up the students like they did? Some of the students have to stand at the "hitch-hike" corners for twenty or thirty minutes at a time before getting a way to and from town.

It is terribly disappointing to us students to be standing there waiting for a ride and have all these people pass us up. Some even smile as they do! We can't help it if we don't own cars.

I have been in Murray for four years, and this is the only thing I can see wrong with the people here. This could be the perfect town, as far as I'm concerned if this was corrected.

Yours truly,
Gene Barnett

Canadian Air Cracks Man Killing US Heat Wave

By UNITED PRESS
Refreshing Canadian air cracked a man killing heat wave in the North today but the sun still blazed down on the parched South.

At least 54 persons have been killed by the heat since the torrid weather spread across the nation four days ago.

Locally, the long awaited cool air also brought violent storms which killed at least four persons Wednesday night.

City after city reported shrieking winds and torrential downpours as the cool air smashed head on into the hot, muggy atmosphere.

Temperatures skidded in matter of minutes and millions of Americans had their first comfortable night's sleep in days.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the Canadian air was pushing into southern Missouri and northern Oklahoma. But the heat wave still ruled in the Southern Mississippi Valley and Southern Plains.

Heat Claims Many
The heat claimed most of its victims in the Great Plains, where temperatures have soared past the 110 mark.

The weather was blamed for 24 deaths in Missouri, 12 in Kansas, 11 in Oklahoma, three in Illinois, two in Iowa, and one each in Texas and the District of Columbia.

In St. Louis, 100 persons were treated for heat prostration, and 10 died. Eleven persons, most of them old folk, perished in Kansas City before the heat broke Wednesday night.

The deaths accompanied such record breaking temperatures as 117 at Butler, Mo., 115 at St. Louis, 113 at Springfield, Mo., 113 at Tulsa, Okla., and Quincy, Ill., and 112 at Rantoul, Ill.

The heat breaking storms struck hardest at Mifflin County, Pennsylvania, where a tornado ripped over a recreation hall, killing one woman and injuring nine young persons.

Twister Wrecks Roof
About 50 persons in the hall were unhurt when the twister caved in a section of its roof. The storm caused hundreds of thousands of dollars' damage elsewhere in the area.

A 20 year old youth was killed by lightning at Lansing, Mich., and a lightning bolt killed a young farmworker near Torrington, Wyo. At Wapakoneta, Ohio, a nine year old boy was killed when a barn where he had sought refuge collapsed.

Seventy miles per hour gusts raked Columbus, Ohio, and golf-sized hail stones splattered the Indiana-Ohio border.

At Beaver Falls, Pa., doctors delivered two babies under lights provided by emergency power after lightning hit the hospital's transformer.

Power lines and trees were down in Western Pennsylvania and in scattered sections of Massachusetts. The mercury plunged from 98 to 78 in five minutes at Utica, N. Y., and fell 16 degrees in a minute at Syracuse, N. Y.

In addition to helping his dad with his crops, Bobby has 34 acres of tobacco, 7 acres of popcorn, 10 acres of field corn and one brood sow in his farming program.

This keeps him pretty busy but he still has time to write the news about the FFA. In July he will take one week off and attend the State FFA leadership training center at Hardinsburg, Kentucky, preparing himself to do a better job of reporting the news.

Bobby says he enjoys FFA activities, but that there is lots of work in keeping the public informed. He believes however, this will be good for him.

Bobby has one brother, Billy, who is with a sewer company in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and one sister, Mrs. Charles Vaughn, of Paris, Tennessee.

He attends the Hazel Church of Christ.

Ernest Bailey Is Still Critical

Mr. Ernest Bailey is still listed as critical at the Murray Hospital and is reported to have had a fair night last night.

He has been on the critical list since the night of July 5, when he was shot in the lower abdomen by intruders in his home on Murray route two.

Four persons are being held as suspects in the incident and all are charged with armed robbery and are under $5,000 bond each.

Rev. Paul T. Lyles is the evangelist at a revival at the Brewers Methodist Church this week.

Vast Road Building Program On Way

BOLTON LANDING, N. Y. — A vast national road building program appeared certain today regardless of whether state governors accept President Eisenhower's $50 billion dollar 10 year plan.

The governors wound up their 46th annual conference with a decision to make their own study before doing anything about the presidential proposal.

They probably will meet in Washington late this year to thresh out the federal government will play in a field which may contend for long to the states alone.

None of them quarreled with the idea that bigger and better roads are needed. They have plans for their own state programs already under way.

The arguments in favor of some federal participation were based on coordination to establish a truly national network of a particular value in event of another war. Federal help in financing turnpike financing, particularly if the bond market gets tight, also was mentioned.

A resolution adopted at the closing business session of the 46th annual Governors' Conference was far milder than some of the remarks made after the Eisenhower plan was unveiled on opening day.

The governors decided they were "highly pleased by the President's willingness and determination to work with the states" on the problem. They made no mention of their long time demand that the federal government quit levying gasoline taxes and get out of the road building field.

In another development of the closing session, 75 year old Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, winding up a long career of public service, helped make his friend, Gov. Robert Kannon of Louisiana, chairman of the conference for the coming year. Both bolted the Democratic ticket to support President Eisenhower in the 1952 campaign.

Five Years Ago Today

Ledger & Times File
July 15, 1949

Capt. Oliver C. Hood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Hood, 1601 Farmer Avenue, has reported to Brooke Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for duty.

Mrs. Notie Darnell, 75, died yesterday after being in ill health for 22 years. She died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Van Sims, Lynn Grove Route One.

Hood is a major concern of a large part of Europe today and in some countries, a critical concern.

The four pound bass caught by Mrs. E. S. Diuguid moved to the second place slot in the Ledger and Times fishing contest when W. D. Coleman of New Concord landed a 5 lb. 9 oz. whopper last Wednesday.

A Mayfield right hander turned in one of the best performances of the 1949 Kitty League season last night when he limited the Cairo Dodgers to one hit as the Dodgers won 6-0.

A steel strike apparently is going to be averted after all. Three of the big steel companies announced today they've accepted a presidential plan for a 60-day truce.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor,
Be it known unto all concerned that, regardless of political ramifications, at home or abroad, I believe in the precepts incorporated in the Constitution of the United States, embracing three distinct, yet inseparable branches of government, known as the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial, with out abrogation of either, or usurpation by either, to the illegitimate advantage or disadvantage of either, that confidence may prevail with the commonwealth.

Very few think deeply into the foundation of our so-called era of prosperity. Factious knowledge is indispensable, before decision. What shall be the major objective of the next generation? Fathers and mothers must face that question. The nation that forgets God shall come to naught, said the Christ. Personally, I had rather stand alone and be right, than stand with a million and be wrong. We cannot serve both God and mammon.

According to Solomon, a word fitly spoken, is like apples of gold in pictures of silver, and confidence in an unfaithful man is like a broken tooth, and a foot out of joint, lift up your heads, ye servants of the Most High, and look into the wilderness around you. Measure your faith, and consider your works. Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.

Some day, we must give an account of our workmanship. There will be no evidence missing, and no appeal to higher courts. If God be for us, who can be against us? Or, if God be against us, who can be for us? Many suffer persecution, because that stand as sturdy soldiers of the Cross. In the last days, said Paul, they will be ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth. Having a form of Godliness, but denying the power thereof, from such turn away. We must not substitute social programs for Spiritual programs. I have heard individuals say they believe God is on our side. My Major ambition is to be on His side. Yes, as for me and my house we will serve the Lord. Just a few thoughts, for thinkers, in the Commonwealth of America.

Jury Weeps While Child Relates Mother's Beatings

LOS ANGELES, July 13 (UP)—Mrs. Trinidad Vera, convicted of maiming and half-blinding her 9-year-old daughter, faced a possible 64-year sentence, today.

A jury returned the guilty verdict against the 29-year-old housewife yesterday. She was charged on four counts of assault with means to do great bodily injury, one count of assault with a deadly weapon and one count of mayhem.

Mrs. Vera had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. Sanity proceedings will begin in the Little Celia Sanchez said her arms were twisted until they broke. She said she was made to sleep and eat on the floor "like a pig," was struck with knives until she bled, was forced to eat mouthfuls of hot chili peppers and her hands were held in scalding water.

Billy Graham, In Hospital, Is Being Watched Carefully

By United Press

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 12 — Billy Graham may undergo an examination today to determine whether an operation will be needed to remove a kidney stone which has confined the young evangelist to a hospital bed.

Dr. Thomas R. Huffines, a kidney specialist attending Graham, said an instrumental examination would be made if Graham doesn't pass the stone by today "to determine if it can be passed without operating procedure."

Graham was hospitalized Saturday after his sixth kidney attack in recent weeks. The recurring trouble caused him to lose more than 30 pounds since the attacks began during his five-month spiritual "crusade" in Europe.

The famed 35-year-old evangelist's wife, Ruth, and their four children are staying at the Graham home at nearby Montreat, N. C., and visiting him at the hospital each day. Dr. L. Nelson Bell, Graham's father-in-law, termed the evangelist's illness "nothing unusual, but said Graham would be kept in the hospital for several days for further observation."

Snead Ready To Retire, Yet

By BOB MCKOWEN
United Press Sports Writer
WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS,
W. Va. July 13 (UP)—Samuel

Jackson Snead, whose mighty driver has earned him a golfing fortune—none of which is "buried in tomato cans"—has put an end to rumors that he is getting too old for the tournament trail and will soon retire to his home course for good.

"As long as the desire is there, I'll keep on playing," Snead said at a record meeting of the West Virginia Sportswriters Association. "When the desire is gone, there's no use playing any longer."

But Snead left you with the idea that it'll be some time before he will lose the desire to go after the big ones.

Hogan Won't Play
"Sam, how about this series you're trying to arrange between you and Hogan?" Snead replied, "but Hogan won't play." "Sam, who started that stuff about you burying your money in cans in your back yard?"

"That doggone Jimmy Demaret," I told him. "You better start that out, people are gonna start digging up my back yard." Snead reminded about Demaret. "We were playing at Richmond one time and Jimmy was taking an awful beating. We got down to the 15th hole and instead of his caddy stopping, he went right on up to the next green, way up on the hill. Jimmy turned around to get his putter and then noticed his caddy way up on that hill. Jimmy said, 'It's bad enough to take a licking down here, now they're running off with my clubs.'"

Snead is hard at work at the Greenbrier Hotel course making a series of television shorts back in the bag, I said. "We start with the nine iron."

Lessons For Boy
"I had some people lined up one day and was just starting to explain a shot when a boy about 11 or 12 came running up to me all out of breath. 'Mr. Snead,' he yelled. 'Wait till I get my clubs I want to take a lesson.' He ran into the club house and ran back up to where we were waiting. He pulled out a big driver. 'Put that driver back in the bag,' I said. 'We start with the nine iron.' "He looked kinda worried. 'Gee, Mr. Snead, I'm afraid I won't have enough money for all those lessons. How much do the lessons cost?' I told him I get $25 a lesson. He looked puzzled and then replied, 'All I have is two dollars and a half. Can I get that much worth?' "Drop your club quick," I yelled. "You've already had that much." You should have seen his face."

New Program Begun By Postal Department

On July 13 (UP)—red-white-and-blue mail trucks will start out with two postmen and the day's mail for residential areas.

A truck will stop at an intersection. Each of its mailmen carrying the mail for two blocks, will head out at right angles to one another.

One will make deliveries down one street to the next corner. Then he will cross over and work back on the other side. He will continue past the truck to the next corner the opposite way then across again and work back to the truck.

The other will work similarly the cross street. If you picture the two blocks as a cross, each man will work two of the four arms of the cross. The truck then will move two blocks away and the procedure will be repeated.

The Post Office said the first 14 trucks—nine in Akron and five in Youngstown—are the forerunners of a motorized lift for mailmen and part of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield's "progressive engineering program" designed to improve mail service and cut costs.

It said the new system has many advantages. For one thing, the new motorized mailmen will deliver parcel post along with letters, since they won't have to haul heavy mail bags for their entire route.

This will eliminate the need for special trucks for parcel post the Post Office said.

Postal officials emphasize that motorization is to be gradual and that no regular letter carrier will lose his job as a result of this program, the announcement said.

"If less mail carriers are needed in the future, mailmen who leave the postal service by retirement, death or other natural causes will not be replaced."

The department did not say when the new motorized mailmen will come to other areas.

New Wage Scale For Restaurants To Go In Effect July 15

Frankfort, Ky. — The State Department of Industrial Relations is notifying all hotel and restaurant operators in the state of new wage scales for women and minors in industry, to take effect July 15, thus winding up more than four years of effort to achieve higher wage scales for this class of persons.

Acting Commissioner of Industrial Relations Paul Combs sent to each hotel and restaurant operator more than 4,000 of them—copies of the new order, according to zones as prescribed by a recent decision of the Court of Appeals. The new zones and the scale of wages effective in each are:

Zone 1: Includes cities of 20,000 or more population and contiguous territory within five miles — the zone to include Louisville, Shively, St. Matthews, Owensboro, Paducah, Ashland, Catlettsburg, Lexington, Covington, Newport, Dayton, Bellevue, Fort Thomas, Southgate, Park Hills, Bromley and Ludlow.

Zone 2: Cities of not less than 4,000 nor more than 20,000 and contiguous territory within two miles — includes Bowling Green, Central City, Corbin, Cumberland, Cynthiana, Danville, Frankfort, Georgetown, Glasgow, Harlan, Harrodsburg, Hazard, Henderson, Hopkinsville, Jenkins, Madisonville, Mayfield, Maysville, Middlesboro, Mt. Sterling, Paris, Pikeville, Princeton, Providence, Richmond, Shelbyville, Somerset and Winchester.

Zone 3: All territory not in the first two zones.

Minimum Wage schedule:

Zone 1: Non-service employees: 45 cents an hour for the first 48 hours worked in any week and 67½ cents an hour thereafter. Service employees: 30 cents an hour for the first 48 hours and 45 cents an hour thereafter.

Zone 2: Non-service employees: 43 cents an hour for the first 48 hours worked in any week and 64½ cents an hour thereafter. Service employees: 28 cents an hour for the first 48 hours and 42 cents an hour thereafter.

Zone 3: Non-service employees: 41 cents an hour for the first 48 hours and 61½ cents an hour thereafter. Service employees: 26 cents an hour for the first 48 hours and 39 cents an hour thereafter.

He wears a brace and is in wheelchair due to injuries he said he received when he surprised an intruder in their home at time of the murder. The family offered $10,000 reward for information leading to conviction of murderer. (International)

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE
CYNTHIA found herself feeling a little sorry for this unknown girl who had married Alan as well as for Nora.
"Her name is Helen. That's all the letter said. Alan didn't say just when he—they would be home." For the first time Nora's voice had faltered, stumbling over that plural form. Perhaps she was only just beginning to accept it; the letter which, so far, must seem completely unreal.
"You're better off without him!" Roz claimed. She knew it was small comfort to offer anyone; yet Nora would come to realize it was true.
"Without him—" Nora stopped. She looked around as though her eyes could not quite focus, or her mind grasp what she had repeated. How could she go on without someone she had loved for so long? Why should she want to? What could life hold for her now?
"Roz is right. But it will take time, darling, for you to understand everything." Cynthia said the change that had come over Nora. Or perhaps it was more that she felt it.
Nora was walking toward the other room, her movements mechanical. Something like fear clutched at Cynthia's heart. She got up quickly to follow her. She wanted to put her arms around Nora, let her break down and cry her heart out. She remembered how Nora had cried when little old Mrs. Beckeroff, her patient, had died. It would be better if Nora could cry like that now.
Nora had gone to her room. By the time Cynthia could catch up with her, the other girl had closed the door and had bolted it.
"Let her alone," Roz advised. "She'll snap out of it."
"I wonder..." If it had been Roz, Cynthia thought it might work out that way. But Nora was not Roz. Nora was sweet and simple. She trusted everyone. She was so good herself that she thought everyone else was, too.
"I'm afraid for her," Cynthia added. "This would be a blow to any woman. But Nora—well, Nora's more like a child who should never have to grow up. How on earth could Alan, who knew her so well, do such a thing to Nora!"
"It was love, my pet," Roz replied with a smile. "Sometimes I think I don't want any part of it. What love can do to you. I've seen so darn much of it. My own mother carrying her heart out the rest of her life after my father left her for another woman. Believe me, sometimes I think I'll stay away from the fire and end up a speller sitting alone by my own hearthstone, and liking it."
Cynthia could not quite picture the glamorous Rozanna in that role. But this was not the moment to laugh at anything.
"I wonder if I ought to phone Wait," Cynthia suggested later on in the evening as Nora still remained locked in her room. There had been no sound from within. Both Cynthia and Roz had taken turns listening, and once or twice Cynthia had knocked. Nora had not given any response. She had made it evident that she wished to be left alone.
"Why Wait?" Roz asked. The doctor had never struck her as a sympathetic person.
"Wait," Cynthia explained. "I think Nora is in shock. She needs medical care. She won't sleep. And she can't lie there all night thinking about this terrible thing that has come to her."
"I might phone Alan's mother," Cynthia was thinking out loud. Mrs. Davies might be able to get close to Nora, since she had always said she felt as though Nora were her own daughter.
"Maybe the dear boy didn't write such a sweet epistle to his schoolgirl sweetheart," Roz said caustically. "If they don't know
